Reggie Richards-Petle

Reggie, as you prepare to begin a new chapter in your life, we, your parents, with great regret prepare to close a chapter in our lives. Do you truly realize the impact your departure to college will have upon our lives? First, we will have to seal the cow for you won't be home to consume 2 gallons of milk each day. Then we'll stop our monthly order for 2 halves of Raman noodles. The sounds of drumming will cease. The IM machine will fall silent. We'll have to train Lily to shovel roofs. And who'll we turn to for our weekly exposure to great jazz? Then there's dog walking, dishwasher unsloading, dump runs, kitchen floor cleaning, glass cutting, oh the list goes on! And where will Kea go for her buffet? Perhaps you should stay.....? Mom & Dad

STAGE 40 Little Shop of Horrors

Stage 40's presentation of Little Shop of Horrors, the story of an orphaned florist, his friends and their encounter with a giant, man-eating plant, was a huge hit. Exciting and dramatic, this musical was one of the company's finest performances. The plant was a focal point; rented from the original off-Broadway show. Senior Adam Sobel, Stage 40's very first puppeteer, operated this 900-pound beast. The show also marked the first performance that Stage 40 had to use body mics on its actors, due to the thunderous rock and roll band performing just in front of the stage.

Enjoyed by all involved, Little Shop of Horrors is a bright spot in the company's long history.
—Justin LaFamiano, Stage 40 Board President

The Mill River Game may have ended for some...

But the Game of Life goes on. Its a long game, and a rewarding one

Take some calculated risks, but don't leave it to just a roll of the dice. Its a game of strategy, not one of chance

If you always Play to Win the odds will be in your favor

...and Good Luck!
